

Aisle Signs

Warehouse aisle signs are used to identify rack and floor storage aisles by displaying numbering and/or character sequences, which help operatives find pallet locations easily. They are generally fixed to or hung, to the end face of racking and shelving.

Aisle markers are manufactured from 1/8" PVC and direct printed, or with industrial grade vinyl characters if preferred, both ideal for internal use.

The signs can be fixed with double sided adhesive pads, self-tapping screws or they can be supplied with holes for hanging attachments.

Aisle signs for racking can be manufactured in a range of sizes but are normally 12" x 12" for a single character sign, or 12" x 16-18" for double character signs.

Shelf markers are normally smaller, 8" x 8" for a single character or 8" x 12" for double character signs.

The signs can also be manufactured in any material to withstand temperature variations.
