

As a producer of high volume sequential run labels, ASG Services have developed strategies and inventory supply schedules to help customers maintain a reliable and continuous supply of license plate number labels (LPN labels).

Our production methods vary depending on the level of durability and volume needed per order. Using low grade paper face stock is often sufficient for most uses, as it's a low cost consumable item. Others may look for a longer lifespan and opt for poly composite materials which are more hardwearing and resilient to changing conditions.

Our typical high standards of quality and accuracy are applied to the production of LPN labels, giving customers peace-of-mind that their barcodes will scan on the first attempt, that content is easy to read and that the labels are fit for purpose.

Single and multi site supply agreements are standard, both are handled with care as we understand the importance of time critical deliveries and the logistics involved for some facilities.
